Contact Lenses Are Medical Devices - this includes contact lenses that are only for appearance.

Unlike a pair of glasses with no lenses, contact lenses are classified as medical devices whether they help you see clearly or not. Don't just assume you can buy some costume lenses without getting a prescription even if your vision is 20/20 or better, because contact lens prescriptions are about the fit of the lenses on your corneas as much as they are about vision correction.

Colored contact lenses are sometimes the perfect final touch to take a Halloween costume to the next level.

Unfortunately, not all costume lenses are created equal — or with equal concern for wearer safety. With Halloween coming up, we want to give all of our costume-loving patients some guidance on how to find great costume lenses and care for them properly to protect their eye health.

ONE SIZE DOES NOT FIT ALL:

don't all come in one identical shape and size.

There is no such thing as a one size fits all contact lens. If you try to wear a contact that doesn't fit the particular curve of your eye, it might put you at risk of an eye injury. Just another reason that a proper prescription is worth getting!
